

Tantely JEANS joined the Electronic Communications department of the Institut Luxembourgeois de Régulation (ILR) as a Senior Economist in 2017.

Tantely has twenty years' experience in regulation. She conducts market analysis and works on several initiatives to promote connectivity, competition and to empower end-users. She prepares and participates to the BEREC plenaries meetings and is also in charge of international cooperation with the French speaking regulators group FRATEL which was under Luxembourgish presidency in 2022.

Prior to joining the ILR, Tantely JEANS has occupied various positions at ARCEP. She has worked in the international department of the French regulator, contributed to the French Chairmanship of BEREC and was the chair of the BEREC Office Advisory Group in 2016. She also worked on postal topics and joined ARCEP as statistician in the Markets observatory. She began her career as an economist in the urban transport sector.

Tantely JEANS holds a master's degree in Industrial Economics from the Université Paris-Dauphine.